

6 RULES OF SUCCESS THAT YOU SHOULDN'T LISTEN TO

GERT STULP

you need to put more armour-plate where the holes aren't because that's where the holes were on the airplanes that didn't return

6 RULES OF SUCCESS

1. Trust yourself
2. Break some rules
3. Don't be afraid to fail
4. Ignore the naysayers
5. Work like hell
6. Give something back

SCIENTIFIC
KARMA

work like hell

WORK LIKE HELL

don't forget, it's just a job and there are other nicer jobs

WORKING SMARTER, NOT HARDER

finish stuff

IF YOU DO SOMETHING YOU LOVE

YOU NEVER WORK A DAY IN YOUR LIFE

but more accurate to me than "hell"

ignore the naysayers

REJECTION IS INEVITABLE

for every successful grant there are 5 failed ones

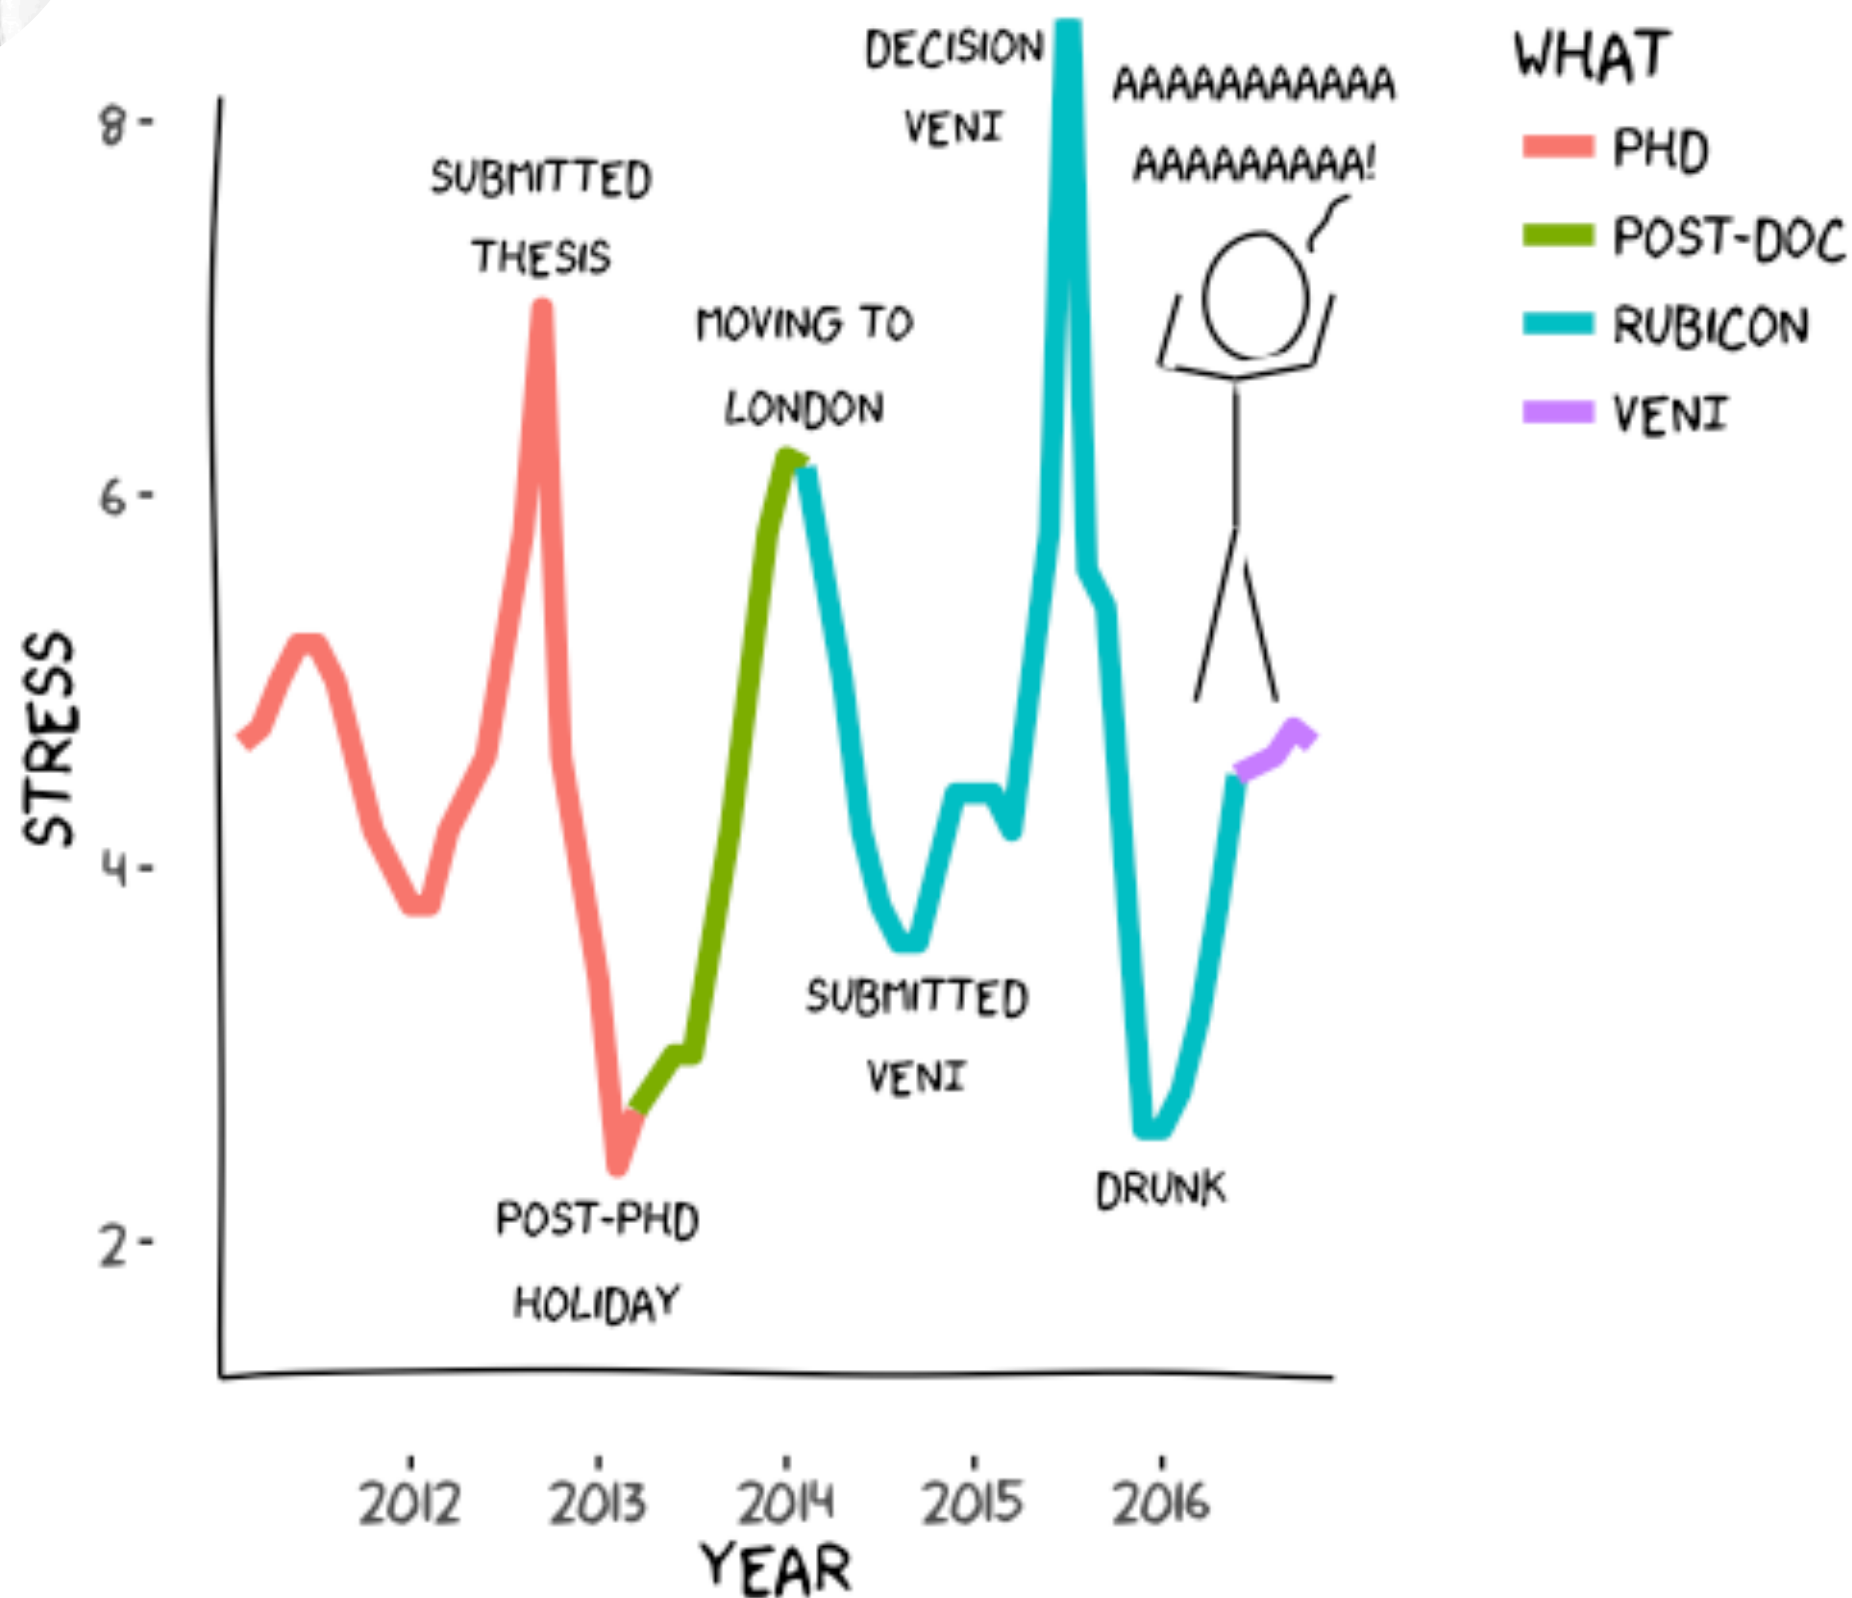

for every prize there are 10 nominations for every accepted manuscript there are 3 rejections

for every position there are 5 failed applications

don't be afraid to fail

don't be afraid to fail

LEAVING ACADEMIA IS NOT FAILURE

I was wrong in my strong belief that in academia, you can find the best job and the best people

break the rules
